

Contents

Foreword	vii
Clyde Chitty
Acknowledgements	viii
Part 1 Beyond ability-based teaching and learning	1
1 Ability, educability and the current improvement agenda	3
2 What's wrong with ability labelling?	16
3 The Learning without Limits project: methods and approaches	44
Part 2 Accounts of the teachers' practice	55
Introduction	57
4 Anne's approach: they all have their different ways to go	59
5 Claire's approach: a thinking classroom	68
6 Alison's approach: an open invitation	78
7 Narinder's approach: the promise of tomorrow	89
8 Patrick's approach: only connect	105
9 Nicky's approach: step back and look at the children	117
10 Yahi's approach: raising the level of trust	128
11 Julie's approach: access, security and success	137
12 Non's approach: the bridge between values and practice	148
Part 3 The core idea of transformability	163
13 Transforming the capacity to learn	165
14 Purposes and principles in practice	194
15 Young people's perspectives on learning without limits	210
16 Framing learning without limits teaching: contexts and retrospectives	224
17 Towards an alternative improvement agenda	244
Bibliography	275
Index	281